GALA TIME FOR CHILDREN

"The projectors of the sleighing carnival which is being discussed for next Monday afternoon and evening, need have no fears that there will be any diminution of the snow on the principal thoroughfares until the date set for the event," the weather brecaster said to a Star reporter today. The indications are that the thaw will be radual. Indeed, unless all signs fail, there vill be another fall of snow within the ext twenty-four hours. The indications are for snow tonight and tomorrow. Conitions may change, however, and the exected snow may take the shape of a light tin, but owing to the freezing temperature hich will continue, this will not materially ffect the snow already here. The rain which commenced falling shortly before night yesterday and continued for several hours covered the streets and sidewalks with an icy coating that made traveling dangerous for man and beast alike. This condition was but slightly improved during the early hours today, and tardiness among the employes was the rule at most of the offices and places of business. Numerous accidents were reported, but

The largest crowd, perhaps, gathered on The largest crowd, perhaps, gathered on the old 13th street hill near Frankin public school. Occosionally a belated citizen, slowly wending his way homeward through the ice-covered streets, would prove to be a target for their missiles. It was indeed gala sport for boys and girls alike.

The temperature today has remained stationary and has consistently lingered near the freezing point. around the great lakes is far below the zero mark. Bismarck, N. D., is the coldest place in the United States today, the thernometer having reached twenty degrees be-

He was in a sleigh with a lady and was near I street when the horse became frightened and ran furiously. The sleigh collided with a street car at the F street crossing, throwing the occupants in the snow. They were more scared than hurt. The sleigh was slightly damaged. About 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon as infuriated horse dragging a pair of shafts ran over the wharf at the foot of 7th street and plumped into the icy water. Capt. Harry Randall and members of the crew of the steamer Randall rescued the animal. The horse had broken loose from animal. The norse had broken loose from a sleigh on 7th street, after an exciting run from 10th and D streets. Mr. Howard L. Wilkins and two friends had been thrown from his sleigh, but had escaped injury. The sleigh was badly damaged. Appeal to the Charitable. An appeal is made to the charitably inclined to help the poor of Georgetown. The increased demands upon the office of the associated charities for that section has resulted in nearly depleting the funds. Money, clothing, fuel, groceries and like goods are in demand, and to be used to the greatest possible advantage should be delivered at once. Articles can be left at the Georgetown branch of the office, corner of Pros-pect avenue and 32d street, or if too bulky a postal card can be sent and the articles will be called for.

Prof. B. T. Janney, the president of the Associated Charities, in conversation with a Star reporter this morning, stated that there are nearly 100 needy families helped by the Georgetown branch, and sometimes the number is increased, depending con-siderably upon the weather. Very few do-nations are being received, he said, the most substantial of any being a check for $25, which was given today by a local business man. He earnestly hopes that the people will respond to the appeal, and not let the bulk of the charity funds for Georgetown be supplied from other sources.

Police Insist That the Sidewalks Shall Be Cleared.

The metropolitan police department is determined that the part of the police regulation which provides that snow shall be removed from the sidewalks four hours after the snow ceases to fall shall be carried out to the letter.

Prince Henry's Itinerary. Representative Otey of Virginia today introduced in the House a resolution providing that the itinerary of Prince Henry of Russia shall extend through Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Tennessee. PRESIDENT GILMAN SPEAKS OF THE LARGE CORRESPONDENCE.

Secretary Walcott Says Nothing Can Re Done Until This is Thoroughly Digested.

President Daniel C. Gilman of the Carnegie Institution when seen at his home in Baltimore yesterday said that the details of the plans for the institution are yet so incomplete that he was unable to state anything definite concerning them. Continuing Dr. Gilman said:

"The adjournment of the trustees on Thursday in Washington was followed by a meeting of the executive committee, at which various propositions relative to the future and scope of the institution were discussed, but we arrived at nothing which can yet be announced for publication. I would have liked to talk more freely before this, but circumstances did not permit, and from now on I shall be glad to give any information I can.
"A vast deal of correspondence work has to be done before we can accomplish defi-nite results, and I am now spending my time writing answers to queries received from educators and men of science in all parts of the country, besides a number of from prominent men in Europe. "Until this correspondence has been carefully considered and digested it will be impossible to announce our future policy. Dr. Gilman gave out the following official statement: "After the trustees of the Carnegie Institution adjourned yesterday the executive committee held an important session and a second session in the afternoon. It appeared at these meetings that a very large number of communications had been addressed to individual members of the board some of them of slight importance and others requiring a great deal of considera-

"The committee decided that it would be essential at an early date to confer with leading men of science in every part of the country with respect to the development of the Carnegie Institution. Letters will therefore be addressed to the heads of colleges, universities and technical schools and also to persons not connected with institutions, who have won distinction in various departments of knowledge.

"When their replies are received and col-lated they will be considered by the executive committee, together with information received from other sources, and thus gradually plans will be developed for carrying out the intentions of the founder. It will certainly be some weeks, and it may be some months, before any formal an-nouncement can be made. Indeed, the Indeed, the trustees do not expect that a great deal can be done before these suggestions of the executive committee are presented to them. It must also be borne in mind that. although the gift is made, there is no in-come yet received from it."

Secretary Walcott Talks. Dr. Charles D. Walcott, who was recently chosen secretary of the Carnegie Institution, said to an Evening Star reporter today:

"I have nothing to add to Dr. Gillman's statement. I only know that the work of getting the institution into shape must be necessarily slow. We are having the house at the corner of 15th and K streets repaired for the executive offices, and expect to shortly occupy it.

"I cannot say when the next meeting of the board of trustees will be held, as it is subject to the call of the chairman. The board is composed of men of prominence. many of whom live at a distance, and they will not be called together until there is something definite to consider.

"I was more than pleased at the last meeting," continued Dr. Walcott, "on account of the enthusiasm displayed by those present, both as to the plans and purposes

It is now in New York, and will be in my possession in a few days. I am inclined to think Mr. Cleveland's health would not permit him to serve on the board of trustees, as he feared that he could not give the matter attention it deserved. "The former President is a most conscientious man, and undoubtedly would not accept any position to which he could not give his full attention. It has been a maxim that he established early in life, and Rock Island, Ill., who gets 460,800 acres, he has followed it ever since.

"The Carnegie Institution is in my opinion," concluded Dr. Wolcott, "the greatest educational project that has been advanced or attempted in this generation." Civil Service Examinations.

Examinations are to be held by the civil service commission as follows: March 1-Agrostologist, Agricultural Department, $2,500; chief of the road material laboratory, Agricultural Department, $2,000; food microscopist, Agricultural Department, $840; horseshoer and blacksmith, qualified as engineer, quartermaster's department at large, $45 per month and rations. March 4—Seed laboratory assistant, Agricultural Department, $720; trainmaster, quartermaster's department at large, $900; machine designer, United States mint, $4.50 per day; local and assistant inspector of hull, steamboat inspection service, $1,500. March 5-Steam engineer, quartermaster's department at large, $720 and $360 per examiner, customs service, New Orleans, La., $1,400. March 6-messenger boy, Shreeveport, La., $360.

YEARLY LEAVES OF ABSENCE.

In the Navy Department They Averaged Less Than 30 Days. The House committee on appropriations has called on the heads of all the executive departments for detailed information in regard to leaves of absence of employes for the calendar year 1901, with a view to its use in the consideration of the legislative, judicial and executive appropriation bill. The indications are that this question of leaves of absence of department employes will come up for considerable discussion in the House when this appropriation bill is reported.

The Secretary of the Navy has already submitted a report on the subject covering the Navy Department. From this report it appears that there are 430 employes in the department whose total leave during the calendar year 1901 was 12,884 days, of which 11,057 days are classed as annual leave and 826 days as sick leave. The average annual leave is stated at 25.7 days; the average sick leave, 4.2 days, and the average of total leave, 29.9 days.

The records of the other executive departments have not yet been made public.

Market Company Sued for $10,000. Suit was filed in the Supreme Court of the District today by Attorneys Charles H. Merrillat and Eugene Carusi & Sons in behalf of Jane O. Dwyer, to recover damages in the sum of $10,000 against the Northern Market Company and the District Northern Market Company and the District of Columbia. It is alleged that the plaintiff sustained injuries by falling on peelings and vegetable refuse on the sidewalk in 7th street between O and P streets, in front of stands let on the sidewalk by the market company to venders of country produce. It is said that this case presents several interesting questions as to the liability of the District and the market company for permitting an alleged illegal occupation of the sidewalk immediately north of the market company's market house at 7th and O streets. ASKING FOR STATEHOOD. Arguments Presented by a Delegation

From Arizona. The House committee on territories heard further argument today why Arizona should be admitted into the Union as a state. A. B. Fowler of Phoenix, L. W. Mix of Nogales and Colonel McGowan, also a resident of that territory, presented reasons why statehood should be conferred.

In his estimate of the population of the 150,000, but said the census returns showed only 123,000. He believed many errors had been made in the census and gave as an illustration the returns from Phoenix. That city, he said, had a population of 10,000. census figures gave only half that The members of the committee tioned Mr. Fowler closely on this point. He gave as a reason that the enumeration was made during the heated period in the summer when people had gone to the mountains and seashore. Mr. Fowler said he personally knew that the teller of the Phoenix bank was not enumerated and he gave other instances where well-known residents had been missed by the enu-merators. He had no knowledge that he had been enumerated. Phoenix had 2,400 qualified voters and 2,200 school children, which clearly showed that the total pop-ulation of the city must be greater than

Mr. Fowler brought strong arguments to bear to show that the popular belief that Arizona was a lawless territory was entirely unfounded in fact. He contended that life and property were safer there than in the great cities of the country. The recent Spanish war gave an illustration of the patriotism of the inhabitants, he declared, and was emphasized by the fact that the first American soldier to stop a bullet in Cuba was an Arizonian.

Mr. Mix said that while Arizona might have had wild days in the past, those days were over. Through it all, he said, there was no record that any man was ever shot in the back, no one was ever murdered in bed and there was no record that any-one had ever been assaulted with a sandbag or a piece of pipe, as was often the case in Chicago, New York and other cities The committee has as yet taken no ac-

JUSTICE ANDERSON'S NOMINATION. Senate Judiciary Committee Will

Make a Favorable Report. The committee on judiciary of the Senate at its meeting today decided to make a favorable report on the nomination of Justice Thomas H. Anderson to be sociate justice of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, The report of the subcommittee which has been investigating the case of Justice Anderson was made by Senator Hoar, its chairman. This subcommittee consisted of Senator Hoar, Senator Pettus and Senator Nelson.

In a general way Senator Hoar re-counted the charge that had been made against Justice Anderson and showed that there was nothing that seemed to warrant, after a full investigation, an adverse report on the nomination. The investigation has been in progress for two or three weeks and has been complete. Written charges had been submitted to the subcommittee, These have been stated in The Star and relate largely to Justice Anderson's prev-lous connection with business organiza-tions, the conduct of which has been the subject of criticism. It is quite likely that Justice Anderson's nomination will be reported to the Senate Monday and in view of the favorable report from the committee, it is probable that the Senate will promptly confirm the nomination.

LOCAL LICENSE FEES.

Effect of Pending Bill on the Insurance Business. A bill to amend the code of law for the District of Columbia approved March 3, which was introduced in the House of Representatives by Mr. Jenkins of Wisconsin yesterday, which was referred to the committee of the District of Columbia, provides for a change in the amount of taxes to be paid by various insurance companies, as well as in the license fees of brokers, solicitors and companies.

Before the code was adopted the com-panies were required to pay one per cent of all premium receipts of the last preced-ing calender year in lieu of all other taxes. The code increased this tax to one and one-half per cent and Mr. Jenkins' bill is to restore the tax to the original amount. A license of $50 is now required from each company doing business in the District of Columbia and a further license of $50 for each broker and $5 for each solicitor.

The former license fees were $15 for the general agent of the company, which in-cluded both solicitors and brokers. Mr. Jenkins' bill is to place the tax at $15 for the companies and $2 for brokers or so-

GENERAL MARKET REPORTS

Special Dispatch to The Evening Star.

NEW YORK, February 1.-Trading in today's stock market was restricted in volume and irregular in net results. Commission house business was of inconsequential proportions, and the room was disposed to take profits. In banking circles there was an unmistakable undertone of confidence, and every stock in which such interests are operating was given excellent support.

Amalgamated Copper was opened with a rush up to 79, but reacted sharply under liberal selling.

On the decline the buying was from inside and a rally followed. There are rumors of a contest for the control of the copper markets, in which the largest financial interests in this country and Europe are concerned. There are two distinct parties and some interesting developments are likely to mark the outcome of the Amalgamated Company's attempt to demoralize the industry in its own interests. Experienced rivals helped to find a market for the Amalgamated output around 11 cents per pound and the Willingness to buy more is reflected by the rise to over 13 cents in the bid price. The public has had an expensive experience with Amaigamated Copper, but there are indications that the officials of that company may have a difficult time in avoiding an uncomfortable stock market epi-Should it happen there will be no sympathy wasted upon the outcome. Good buying was noted in St. Paul, and some of the best houses in the street were given large orders in the stock around 164. This buying has been a feature on several days of the week, and many shrewd judges believe that any decided revival of business in the railroad list will be under the lead-ership of this property. Southern Pacific was steady around 102. The short interest in the latter has reached fairly large pro-The announcement that there would be no increase in Rock Island's dividend during the present year resulted in some selling of that stock, but this prospect was never responsible for the recent significant buying in these shares. The road is earning about two and one-half times its present dividend, and is making certain western connections which will insure large returns within another year. The traction shares are firm and evi-lences of some important undertaking by the surface lines increase. Sugar is strong in spite of the possible delay in reaching a conclusion on the subject of Cuban bounties. The industrial list generally has held well all week. The bank statement was construed by traders to be disappointing because of an increase of $19,589,100 in loans.

The amount is larger than was expected and cannot be explained satisfactorily. Leading bankers are quoted as saying that the street will construe the transaction favorably when it is better known. The gain in lawful money has been $7,870,000, the bulk of it in specie. Deposits are larger by $26,330,200, or fully a million in excess of the amount necessary to balance the report. The net result adds $1,290,050 to the reserve, bringing the total up to $26,-

The action of the Northern Securities Company in declaring a dividend of 1 per cent on the stock to stockholders of record January 31 and getting checks in the mail last night prevents the injunction mania from extending to their action. Next week's market will hinge largely upon the Supreme Court's action on this company's pending case.
